

THE MOUNTAIN BETWEEN US

I'm aching to get home to my first love,
And everything we could have been.
But there's a mountain between us,
Up here the air's getting thin.

If I can take one step,
Then I can take one more.

CHORUS: On I go
Step by step,
Hurting where God only knows.

Though I go
Step by step,
The mountain between us grows.

Your heart beats beside me, keeps me alive.
Is that your voice I hear?
And though the memories stay warm inside,
The truth is a circling fear.

So I take one step,
And then I take one more.

BRIDGE: Atop of this mountain I clearly see
The pathway to peace releasing me.
I can let go of what I wish we could be.
Tomorrow is promising new memories.

FINAL CHORUS:
And I go
Step by step,
Healing where God only sees.

And in that
Last small step,
Love moved the mountain – I'm free.
